

Post Gastric Reduction Diet

The gastric reduction surgery you had involved the surgical design of a small pouch in your stomach. This pouch holds 30-120 mL (1/2-1 cup) of food or liquid, so you will need to limit the amount that you eat. It is very important that you eat very slowly, taking 30-45 minutes to eat a meal. Quit eating when you begin to feel full. Eating too much at one time can stretch your pouch and possibly cause complications. Also, remember to chew your food thoroughly before swallowing it. Please follow these guidelines carefully so you can benefit from your surgery and prevent complications. Following surgery, your diet will usually progress from clear to full liquids, followed by pureed foods over one or two week period. For the next several weeks, you can gradually add solid foods to your diet. Once you begin eating pureed foods and from then on fluids should be consumed 30-45 minutes before or after meals and not with meals. Between meals, beverages may include water, tea, coffee, unsweetened juice; skim milk and sugar-free non-carbonated beverages. Six to eight cups of fluids should be consumed daily. Progression of this diet is gradual, based on tolerance. Eventually, a normal diet may be eaten.

- When you are consuming full liquids or pureed foods, eat 1/2-1 cup servings of high protein, low sugar, low fat items six times a day.
- When you are consuming clear liquids, eat 1/3 cup servings of broth, gelatin or clear fruit juice with each meal.
